A simple upgrade to previously installed HydroTaps, offering contactless drinking water solutions.

Location: London

Client: OC&C Strategy Consultants

Sector: Professional services

Product: Zip HydroTap Touch-Free Wave

The brief

- A communal drinking water solution that will keep staff safe when they return to the office after the COVID-19 lockdown.
- A simple upgrade option to retrofit previously installed HydroTaps, that will remain part of a rental plan.

The solution

A Zip Water customer for over a decade, OC&C Strategy Consultants has a long term rental package, previously having five HydroTap Classic models installed across the office space. In response to COVID-19 and the possible risk the virus presents to staff, the office management team upgraded all of their existing HydroTap models to our new HydroTap Touch Free Wave. Offering 100% touch-free access to filtered boiling, chilled and sparkling water, the new contactless HydroTap is activated using clever infrared sensors, minimising the risk of cross contamination by touch. A mix of both boiling, chilled and boiling only models have been installed in five break-out kitchen areas.

The results

“We have had a great experience using the Touch Free Wave so far. It is simple and easy to use, and all employees who have been on-site have said it has given them peace of mind to have contactless taps.”
